Welcome to the International Mobility Passport toolbox!

The idea of this toolkit is to give you an opportunity to create your own national Mobility Passport. As we explain in the introduction to the Passport, we propose having a national version for two reasons. First and foremost, information about different international mobility opportunities differs from country to country and there are different schemes available at national level. Secondly, we believe that having access to a passport in each person's language can help with inclusion and sharing the information more widely.

In this toolbox, we want to walk you through the different steps that you might need to take to create your own Passport. Of course, we are available every step of the way and you can find contact details at the end of this toolkit. We will walk you through our whys, our sources, and our examples, so that you can feel free to take inspiration.

1. The Erasmus in Schools Project

The Erasmus in Schools project aims to provide information on the various International Mobility schemes available, enabling different young audiences to be aware of different opportunities. We believe young people should have the possibility to choose a mobility experience regardless of financial, time, geographical problems or legal framework, provided that they have the proper information and coaching.

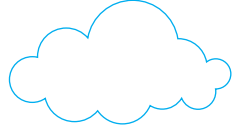

The project intends to create effective tools that will take into account the diversity of young people, addressing young ambassadors, high school and VET students, and young apprentices. Erasmus in Schools will allow students, as young ambassadors, to increase their awareness of the issues of European citizenship and interculturality, addressing their needs thanks to the creation of pedagogical tools in the frame of the four expected Project Results:

For this toolkit we wish to thank the Partners of the Erasmus in Schools Project. We wish to especially thank Giuseppina Tucci, Ettore Bucci, Gabrielle Taylor, Marta Fuentes Labrador and Melina Sie for the feedback on the toolbox. Special thanks go also to Etienne Boulay and to Raquel Moreno Beneit for the design of this toolbox.

- A research on the knowledge and the interest of high school students and apprentices regarding International Mobility
- An International Mobility Passport - one in French and one in Spanish
- A Memento on the added value of peer interventions in schools and training centres
- The Erasmus in Schools guide

The project is funded by the French Youth National Agency in the Framework of the Erasmus+ programme and runs in 2022 and 2023.

2. Why having an international mobility passport is important

Throughout our research and focus groups, we have found that access to information is one of the main non-financial barriers faced by young people in accessing mobility opportunities. Whether it is for studying at school, during an apprenticeship, at university or for discovering other cultures, people who find out about mobility opportunities are usually people who already have access to that information or come from privileged backgrounds in terms of family or schools. With this Passport we want to providing a wider amount of people with the opportunity to discover their possibilities and share them with their peers. Of course, we are aware this Passport is not going to solve every problem related to mobility, but we believe that access to information is key, to also be able for students to share them with their schools, training centres, parents and ultimately become engaged as mobility ambassadors.

3. Useful links and sources

In the following links you can find the global information on the programmes you might wish to mention in the passport. Once on the general page, you can find information on your national agency working on the topics, so that you can give more country-specific information.

4. Our passport: the table of contents and some examples

Here you can find the table of content of the Passport. You can download the editable version here so that you can adapt it.

You can have, of course, all of the elements for graphic design by contacting us at secretariat@obessu.org.

You can also look for the French version and the Spanish version to find some inspiration on how to adapt to the national context!
